

Alberto Albanese is Professor of Neurology and Head of the Department of Neurology at the Humanitas Research Hospital in Milan. Is certified in Neurology and in Psychiatry and has published over 250 publications, including more than 200 scientific papers on indexed journals and several chapters on multi-authored books. Is Editor in Chief of Frontiers in Movement Disorders and Associate Editor of the European Journal of Neurology. He is a member of the Faculty of 1000, and has peer reviewed for a number of neurological journals. Prof. Albanese has been President of the International Neurotoxin association and is a honorary member of the French Neurological Society and of the Swiss Neurological Society. He is regular member of several scientific societies.